Battles Still Raging Along All Fronts in World War

Germans and Austrians Being Terribly Slaughtered by the Armies of England, France and Italy

ANOTHER GERMAN RAID OVER LONDON

By J. H. Hurley
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the Italian Armies in the Field Aug. 22—Austrian casualtes are continuing as the Italians advance The dead and wounded have reached a total of 35,000. The Italians have swept from the enemy the villges of Thesola, Britof, Canale, Bormez and Arosa. All were found smoking ruins and shell shattered from the artillery fire. Crossng the Osonzo was simple for the Italians owing to a heavy fog. The Austrians' search light could not penetrate the curtain smoke. Italian engineers build bridges in many places and over these the attacking forces flew. Another regiment anxious to get into battle swam the river. The patrol on guard was attacked by bayonets and grenades.

With the Brtish Armies n the Field, Aug. 22—The British forces at 4:45 this morning resumed their drive against Langemarch and Freyenberg Violent fighting is being waged. No details have been reecived at headquarters.

LONDON AGAIN BOMBED FROM AIR

London, Aug. 22—Ten enemy aeroplanes raided London today dropping bombs over Dover and Margate. Lord French, commander in chief of the Home Defense forces announced that two of the German planes had been brought down. For the first time in months the Germans used aeroplanes in the raid over Yorkshire. A statement issued by Lord French today said the dirigibles flew over Yorkshire and at the mouth of the Humber river. They dropped bombs. "There were no casualties except one man was injured."

Margate and Dover are in Kent at the mouth of the Thames. Presumably the Germans intended to follow the Thames up to London. The Rumber river is about 165 miles north of the Thames. Hull one of the great ship building centers in England is situated on the Humber.

AMERICAN AVIATORS ARE KILLED

(By United Press)

Paris, Aug. 22—The death of O. H. Chadwck of Lowell, Mass., and Aviator Biddle also an American, in a recent fight on the west front, were in the list of casualties published today. Corporal Harold Willis, of Boston, a member of the Lafayette Flying Squadron was announced as being a prisoner of war in Germany.

Recent lists of the Americans with the French aviation servicne from the Paris office of the United Press showed a Julian Biddle, of Philadelphia, and Andalusia, Pa., as being in training at the camp at Avord. The cable above does not give Biddle's first name. Corporal Willis has done meritorious work with the Lafayette Flying Squadron. He is 27 years old and for 14 months was in the American ambulance service. Chadwick is a graduate of Harvard and was prominent n athletics.

WAR TAX INCREASE SOON

Washington, Aug. 22.—There will be a further increase in war tax before December, declared Senator Lodge of Mass., speaking of the pending war revenue bill. "We shall have to increase the war tax very soon," Lodge declared, "either now or in December."

Held Up Tax Dodgers

Senator Lewis, of Illinois, dramatically attacked dodgers in a firey debate in the Senate today in regard to conscripting wealth for the war. In the Treasury Department he said there is a $320,000,000,000 swindle perpetrated on this government thru perjury and deceit. If it keeps on the people will rise and with violent hands seize the corporations he said.

Alleged Poison Court Plaster Vendor Arrested At Osceola Today

Young Woman Giving Her Name as Rebecca Black, of Mill Creek, Pa., Will be Brought Here This Evening

A woman giving her name as, Rebeca Black, of Mill Creek, Huntingdon county, Pa., was arrested at Osceola today by the police authorities of that town under the direction of Squire F. M. McCully on the charge of selling court plaster containing disease germs such as is alleged to have been sold several different places throughout the country by German spies or sympathizers.

The woman in custody had worked Philipsburg before going to Osceola. She made the trip between the two towns in the Emerick jitney bus and had been working in Osceola about an hour before word was received from Philipsburg to look out for her.

Upon receipt of the advice from Philipsburg a search of the town was hurriedly made and the woman soon located and placed under arrest. She had made a number of sales but a prompt warning against the use of the plaster was given the townspeople and no danger is loked for even tho the suspicion as to the dangerous character of the stuff is found to be warranted after analysis.

District Attorney Welch was notified and directed that the suspect and her stock of court plaster be sent to Clearfield and she will be brought in on the 5:55 Pennsylvania train this evening.

LABOR TROUBLE LEADS TO COURT SETTLEMENT

Westover Tannery Workers and Hired Deputy Sheriffs Come Together

WAGE TROUBLE THE CAUSE

The little town of Westover in the upper end of Clearfield county is suffering the effects of a labor war, which has been raging for possibly six months, with the end even now far from sight.

Westover is a peaceful little country village, or, rather, was a peaceful little country town built around the Mosser tannery, which was owned and operated for many years by the late W. F. Mosser, who was the leading spirit in the town, honored and respected by all who knew him. He was the originator of the Mosser deer park and otherwise put his town on the map.

So long as Mr. Mosser was at the helm everything was calm and peaceful and the little town was as one big family. Everybody worked at the tannery, they were all natives of the community, many of whem were descendants of the pioneers who settled that region, who owned their own homes and were of the bone and sinew of the nation.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Mosser the management of the tannery, which we are informed is owned and controlled by the Morse Packing company of Chicago, fell into other hands and before long the actions and exactions of those in charge began to create more or less friction with the men employed.

When the price of living began to soar wages at the tannery failed utterly to keep pace with the raise and with flour and $4.00 per sack and beefsteak 30 cents per pound the men declared that $1.75 per day for outside hands and $1.86 to $1.96 for inside tannery workers was not enough to make ends come anyway near meeting and a demand for an increase of fifteen per cent. in wages was the result. This was refused and the trouble started.

A strike was ordered and soon the quiet little village was thrown into a turmoil by the importation of a train load of strike breakers, of the usual calibre of such men and the trouble began.

This character of man was new to the village and naturally failed to mix well with the townspeople. No person would furnish entertainment for them and the company arranged to quarter them in a stockade on the tannery property. Several minor clashes occurred and the management appealed to the county authorities for protection, alleging that they feared damage to their property. Accordingly some eighteen of the strike-breakers were sworn in as deputy sheriffs for patrol of the tannery property only.

On July 23, 1917, a real mix up occurred between the strike breakers and the townspeople. The later allege the imported men invited trouble and got it. In any event a clash occurred and Dennis Fry, Dan Lallamont Jake Rowland, Jean Kitchen, Glen Rodkey, M. C. Westover and H. L. Park were arrested on information made by one L. M. Bishop, in charge of the deputies.

Bishop atempted to arrest the men following the trouble in the town and called upon M. C. Westover, former constable of Chest township a leading business man of the town to assist him. Mr. Westover refused to assist because as he alleges Bishop was not a regular officer and had no jurisdiction off the tannery property. did not see the men making any disturbance and had no warrant.

Following his refusal Mr. Westover was also arrested and the cases were returned to court and will be disposed of at September sessions.

The Westover situation is a most unfortunate and it is too bad some satisfactory adjustment cannot be made. We do not know the real facts in the matter or who is to blame but we are very well aware that no man can live on $1.75 per day nowadays, and further believe that this is one time capital and labor should get together on a live and let live basis. There should be no necessity for armed guards at industrial plants in this country. Armed men are needed in Europe.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 8

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 9

YOUR EQUIPMENT AND ARMS

Each soldier in a modern army carries with him sufficient food, clothing, shelter, fighting arms, and ammunition to take care of himself for a short period in case he should be separated from his company. The total weight of his load, in addition to the clothes he wears, is 50 to 70 pounds. The number of articles is surprisingly large. They are so devised, however, that by ingenious methods of packing and adjusting they can all be carried with the least possible effort.

You are personally responsible for all the arms, clothing and supplies issued to you. The trained soldier keeps track of them. He knows immediately at any time where every one of his belongings is to be found You are required to keep them in good condition. In case you need other articles, they may be issued to you; but their value in that case will be deducted from your next pay.

You wil lreceive on enlistment an ample supply of clothing, including not only your uniform, but extra shoes, shirts, underclothes and socks. You may not be able always to keep your clothing spotlessly clean. But when it becomes dirty or spotted take the first opportunity to clean it thoroughly.

Your shoes must be cleaned and polished frequently. Wet shoes should be carefully dried. Army men frequently dry their shoes during the night by taking a few handfuls of dry, clean pebbles, heating them in a meat can or kettle until they are very hot, and then placing them in the shoes. So long as the pebbles are hot move them about once in a while by shaking the shoes. Take care not to heat the pebbles so hot that the shoes will be scorched.

In general, see to it that all your clothing is as neat and clean as possible at all times. Mend rips and sew on buttons without delay. This will add to your comfort as well as appearance.

Wear your hat straight. Don't affect the "smart aleck" style of tilting the hat. Keep all buttons fastened. Have your trousers and leggings properly laced. Keep yourself clean shaved. Carry yourself like a soldier.

Bear in mind that there is a tendency in camp life for men to become careless and untidy. You must use every means to counteract this tendeney. For this purpose the customs and regulations of the army emphasize the necessity for personal neatness and cleanliness. The good soldier keeps close watch on himself.

Besides his extra clothing a soldier carries a blanket, a rubber poncho, a cantee, a mess kit, including meat can, knife, fork, and spoon, a cup, toilet articles, a first aid package, and some minor belongings.

One of the most useful pieces is one-half of a shelter tent, with rope and pins. The shelter tent is said to be a French invention which was introduced into the American army during the Civil war. In the army it is often called a "dog tent" evidently because of its shape and small size. Two men can combine their halves and set up a shelter tent in a few minutes. While it can not be described as roomy, it is just what its name implies a "shelter" from wind and rain. It is used only in temporary camps.

Your chief fighting tools will be a rifle, a bayonet in a scabbard, a cartridge belt, and an intrenching tool. Other weapons or defenses needed in modern trench warfare will be referred to later. Do not under any circumstances lose track of these articles while on field duty. So long as you possess them, you are an armed soldier capable of defending yourself and of performing effective service. Without them you are for all practical purposes helpless. Of course, this statement deos not apply strictly to those men who are armed in some other way, such as those who are serving artillery or machine guns.

The rifle is the soldier's closest friend. His first thought should be to guard it and care for it above all other possessions. He experts it to take care of him in emergencies. In

CONSCRIPTION IS BEING FOUGHT IN CANADA

Dominion Now Facing Greatest Crisis In Her History Over Selective Draft Law

MUST HAVE MANY MORE MEN

(By United Press)

Ottawa, Canada, Auguts 22.—Canada is facing its first crisis since the opening of the European war.

A general election is to be called by Premier Berden within the next few weeks for early in the fall. The life of the present Conservative government expires on October 7th. This will be the first oportunity the people of Canada have had to pass upon the war policies of the Berden government since the Dominions plunged into the great conflict.

The government has been split wide open on the issue of conscription. British Canada, generally speaking, supports conscription. French Canada is almost solidly oposed. The bitterest and most exciting political campaign in Dominion history is in prospect. Upon the result depends the contiuance in power of the present Conservative government and the enforcement of the compulsory military service act.

Leading the Liberal opposition is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, ex-premier and the idol of the French-Canadians of the province of Quebec. A brilliant speaker and a masterly politician Laurier is bending every effort to bring to his standard all the elements in Canada disaffected with the Borden regime.

Already however he has had to face the refusal of twenty-two non-French-Canadian Liberals in the House from Ontario and the western provinces to follow him in his anti-conscription battle. What strength those conscriptionist Liberal party 'belters' can take with them to the polls has become one of the big question marks of the campaign. In its answer may lie the final decision. On the part of the Conservatives they have had to face minor but very significant desertions from French-Canadian Conservatives.

Canada has 406,000 enlisted men. Her over seas force is made up of five divisions. Four of these are in France and one is held in England as a reserve division. Since the desperate, bloody day at Vimy Ridge, heavy drafts have been made on this reserve. Canada must provide more men or soon Dominion troops will be left without reserves. This would mean the elimination of Canada as a fighting factor at the front. Canada must raise 100,000 more men and do it quick.

Voluntary recruiting is a thing of the past. Canada has no great wealth of man power. Eight million people is her top. Already the 400,000 men who so freely gave themselves to service have seriously tightened the labor market in places. Farmers are in straits for help. In many cities clerks and municipal employees are given half holidays from their regular employment in order that they may go into the fields. This shortage is emphasized by the anti-conscriptionists. Conservatives declare there are hundreds of "slackers" in the cities who could be spared and assert that these are the men they want to get too under the law.

Intricate as is this problem alone, it is intermixed with the racial question, an alien enemy tangle, a tremendously difficult financial situation, involving the nationalization of 7,000 miles of railroad and millions of dollars in advances to others, and a line of hoary but still virulent political animosities, which stirred togethed offer the Canadian voter a political salad unlike anything previous in his entire political experience.

The next few weeks wil see stirring times across the border.

U. S. Against Peace At Present Time Says Redfield

REGARDED AS MORE OR LESS OFFICIAL

(By United Press)

Washington Aug. 22—The first formal utterance of any member of the President's cabinet or other high official of the government since the Pope's peace proposal was received, came today in a scathing denunciation of any peace move in this country. Secretary of Commerce Redfield was the spokesman. He declared there were two great opposing ideals in war—the ideals of autocracy and democracy. Germany was styled the desperado among ntions, and it is her military autocracy against which America is fighting.

The denunciation was in the form of a reply to a letter from J. E. Vandyke, of New Jersey, a member of a pacifist organization. Vandyke wrote to Redfield asking him to support the La-follette peace resolution in the Senate. In his reply Refield declared "that your communication is extraordinary by reason of what it omits. There is no word in your communication that speaks the American spirit. You seem interested to assert the evils of the nations joined with us in this war. In quiet earnestness you slur the spirit and act of those against Germany, which brought this war into being. Subtilely and by indirectness you take such a step that would stab your country in the back and tie the hands of the President. You choose shadows and ignore realities. Autocracy has been felt in Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Poland, Roumania and a fair part of France. It is a skilled and trained autocracy. It is a fight of the people of right against the people of might. Your country stands today as a free people who made war in order to make it safe for the free people of the earth. You have no bitter word for the nation that distressed Belgium and the daughters of France. You have no sympathy for the women and children murdered in defenseless towns whose men are fighting autocracy. Against it and everything like it America wil stand embattled and fight to the end."

Pennsy Must Pay Verdict of 10,916.67

Judge Johnson Directs That Judgment Be Entered In Case of Bovier vs. P. R. R. Co.

Judge Johnson, of Union county, in an opinion filed in the Prothonotary's office this afternoon refused a motion for judgement non obstante in the case of Bert Bovier vs. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and directs that judgment be entered in behalf of Bovier and against the railroad company for $10,916.67. This is the amount of the verdict which Bovier was awarded by a jury in the Clearfield county courts when the case was tried at February term of court.

On December 22, 1915, Bovier was terribly injured when his buggy was struck by a Pennsylvania train at a grade crossing at McGee's Mills. His case was handled by Liveright & Krebs and James A. Gleason, while Murray & O' Laughlin represented the railroad company. It was the largest personal injury verdict ever recovere din a Clearfield county court.

Judge Johnson also filed an opinion granting a new trial in the case of J. D. Anderson vs. The DuBois Street Railway Co. This case was also tried before Judge Johnson at special court in February and resulted in a verdict of $2000 in favor of Anderson for injuries received when a trolley car on which he was riding collided wit other car. In his opinion Judge Johnson recites that inasmuch as throu an ovresight it was not shown th the man's injuries were the result o the accident and at the argument appearing that both sides wanted a new trial, the same was granted.

FRENCH CHAMPION BOXER HERE

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 22.—Georges Carpentier, the French champion, arrived at this port on a French liner. Carpentier it is believed has come to America to stimulate enlistment in the American aviation corp by appearing in all parts of the country and speaking. It is also believed that Tex Rickard, boxing promoter, will try to stage a bout between Carpentier and Jess Willard, the world's champion.

Even Though Merchandise Soars Clearfield Will Have Dollar Da

Everybody Falling in Line and The Occasion Will be Made a Bargain Feature

Dollad Day, 1917, is the next thing on the program. This Duy Of Days is one of the festivities that Clearfield housewives have come to look for as much as the youngsters look forward with delight to the Fourth and Christmas.

Conditions in the mercantile markets are abnormal with factory costs soaring and apparently no limit. But the Clearfield merchants as a whole recognize the fact that it is just such days as Dollar Day that makes for a closer bond of friendship between buyer and seller and are willing to sacrifice profits to further cement this bond.

The following merchants have already signified their intention of participating in the event:

A. W. Leonardsen & Co.
Ross & Woods.
W. F. Powell.
L. S. Hahn.
L. W. Pollack.
A. J. Hagerty.
Electric Supply Co.
Lytle Bros.
Brown's Boot Shop.
Stewart Drug Co.
Kurtz Stationery Store.
A. Mirkin.

Watch the list grow from day to day until it far surpasses the number of participants of last year.

JUDGEMENNT GONE AWRY

The fundamental interests of Clearfield county are being jeopardized by an ill advised Chief Executive of the United States. No one can deny the fact that the coal industry is one of the pillars of the business life of the county. In wages, in royalties and in cash returns the coal industry exceeds all others. Clearfield county needs to look after the interests of the coal men whose interests are in turn the interests of the county.

The news that the President has set a maximum price of $2 per ton for bituminous coal comes as a shocking surprise to all those who have heretofore had a fair opinion of the President's fairness and judgment in matters affecting the welfare of industry in general. In the past people have been slow to criticize the President for mistakes he has made for two reasons. First from a belief that it is unpatriotic to differ with him who is the nominal head of our government and second because his shortcomings have been directly chargable to the incapable advisors with whom he has surrounded himself. In this instance, however, it would seem that his confidence in his advisors has been misplaced, his reliance on his cabinet members a matter of total blindness to the interests of industry which is the life of the nation and he is being made the tool of a small coterie of advisors of socialist tendencies who hope to accomplish government ownership of mines by means of forced ruination of the operators.

To many people the price of $2 may appear to be fair and just but the fact remains that there are hundreds of mines where this sum will not more than cover the actual labor cost of putting the coal on the cars without any allowance for material, royalty and depreciation of equipment. Those who cannot produce coal at less than $2 per ton will be forced to quit producing. Thus it will accomplish a result directly the opposite of the wishes of the President and the needs of the nation. The few who can produce coal at this figure will be able to do so only by reason of their natural advantages and by reason of ideal mining conditions. Manufacturers using coal are today begging the operators to sell them coal at prices far above the mutually agreed price of $3 which has been in force for some time. The coal produced is not adequate to meet the demand. The consumers of coal are not objecting to the $3 price. Daily they offer more.

Were it not for the well known Socialistic leaning and governmental ownership theories of certain of the President's right hand men it would indeed be hard to find a reason for a further reduction in the maximum price to be charged for coal. Steel is today selling for three and four times its former price. Why is there no effort to reduce the price of steel? They fixed the price on wheat so that the consumer, you and I and every wage earner in the nation, will have to pay $3 per sack for flour, but in fixing the price on this commodity they applied the rule in precisely the opposite manner. In the case of wheat they fixed the price "up" while in the case of coal they fixed the price "down." After they fixed the price "up" on wheat they put Hoover on the job to mix barley, corn and oats with the wheat in order that we might get at least the same size loaf. If the proposed coal dictator will dope out a mixed ration of coal, mixing in some boney, slate and sulphur, probably the operators of Clearfield county can keep on top.

Loans When You Need Them

Business men must have a bank that is, at all times, able to lend them their needs.

The County National Bank keeps its funds in such shape that it is always in a position to make advances to its customers as required.

The borrowing ability of any customer up to the limit set by the banking laws, is determined only by his worthiness of credit, and the value of his account to the bank.

The accounts of business men are invited.

SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Schenley Park, Pittsburgh, Pa.
August 20, 1917

Dear Comrade Connelly:

Very glad, tho tardy to write you a few lines to inform you that the "gang is all here" and I need not assure you that it feels good to have a reunion of hte regimental family once more. Our regiment is camped inside the half mile track at the Schenley Oval, and it is an ideal camp location within easy access to the city, also homes of many of the men.

Company L arrived at Pittsburgh at 1:30 a. m., and maybe the lunch enroute, also a breakfast with some Java-Mocha on the side for a wash, was not appetizing. Why, Connelly, it was just like that hospital counter at Comrade Jordan's indeed. The various recruits that have been received at the armory from time to time were marched to the camp last Monday and given over to the various companies. It sure was impressive to see over 600 of them, almost a small regiment, march from the armory.

We are all glad for the short stay among our families and friends before leaving for Georgia. Do wish the good folks at Clearfield could have given us the "once over" as Red Delaney expresses it, in our parade on Saturday last for the boys did fine and the marching was very good, in fact you would have thought the boys had just returned from Texas, where we have hiked 22 miles a day.

By the way, break this news to Bill Leavy very gently. His pedigreed brindle Bull dog, expressed to Captain Scovel was licked by Co. I dog "Buster" to a frazzle. Buster is not much on looks or a pedigree, but oh man, he can fight. Funny, the day Scovel received the Leavy dog, he walked up the officers street with his dog on a leash, and addressing our cook, advised him to get a cage for "Buster," and the cook assured him he did not need a cage, and immediately cut his rope, and the tragedy ensued.

Sorry to cripple Comrade Jordan's force but Merrifield was anxious to enlist, and glad to say that he started in today as cook for the Supply Company, Capt. Costella.

Will close with best wishes for The Progress and our many friends in Clearfield.

AMERICAN AND FRENCH SAILORS FRATERNIZE

(By United Press)

An Atlantic Port, August 22.—American and French sailors do not wait until they arrive in France to fraternize. The French tars are here with French ships lieing in the harbor, while American sailors by the thousands are at a navyyard nearby.

Residents witnessed a novel sight recently. Four of Uncle Sam's sailors and four from France paraded the main thoroughfare on a sight-seeing tour. The men were paired and each man wound his arm about the other's waist.

Pals they were despite the fact that they could not understand each other's language. Aparently it made no difference. Hundreds turned to watch them and momentarily reflect, perhaps on the significance of the comradeship.

SALVATION ARMY TAG DAY

The local Salvation army will take over next Saturday as "tag day" in Clearfield and will "tag" our people in order to raise funds with which to complete their hospital ambulance equipment for use with the American army in France.

The Salvation Army is doing great work on the European battlefields and already has many ambulance units in service. They are preparing a special equipment for the American soldiers and the money raised Saturday will be turned in to this fund.

BIRTHDAY OF "JARRAH JACK"

London, Aug. 22.—A man little known in this quarter of the globe three years ago, but who has been brought into the strong glare of the strong glare of the limelight by the present war, is Sir John Forrest, Treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth, who was a recipent of many congratulations today on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary. Several months ago he came to England to attend the special war cabinet sittings and has since been the object of much public attention.

Sir John is perhaps the most famous and most popular man in Australian public life. Bushman, explorer, scientist and politician, he has had a career which for variety and interest would be hard to beat. He made his name as an explorer while still in his twenties, and was awarded the gold medal of the Royal eographical Society for his work in bridging the gulf which in 1870 separated Western Australia from the other colonies. He became famous, too, during the early rush to the Coolgardie goldfields, and was instrumental in supplying water to the prospectors, thereby saving thousands of lives. The Australians call him "Jarrah Jack," and in the western half of the Commonwealth his influence is so powerful that he is styled "the Emperor of the West."

HEROES' NAMES FOR STREETS

New York, Aug. 22.—The action taken by a number of cities both in Europe and America in renaming streets to commemorate some of the celebrated participants of events of the present war, has served to recall the fact that many streets of New York, chiefly on the lower East Side, bear names commemorative of the heroes of the War of 1812.

Some of the streets that honor the memory of active participants in that war are Perry, Pike, Christie, Forsyth, Eldridge, Allen and Ludlow. All of these streets received their present names just one hundred years ago this year.

Perry street, once the fashionable residential section of old Greenwich Village, was named after Commodore Perry. Christie street was named in honor of Col. John Chrystie, a New Yorker who commanded a detachment in the assault on Queenstown Heights Canada, Oct. 12, 1813.

Forsyth street commemorates Lieut. Col. Benjamin Forsyth, a North Carolina soldier who took part in the Canadian campiagn and later was killed in battle with the Indians. Eldridge street honors the memory of Lieut. Joseph C. Eldridge, who was distinguished for bravery at Stony Creek, wounded at Fort George, and finally killed by the Indians in Upper Canada.

Allen street is named for Willian Henry Allen, who was an officer under Decatur on the frigate United States. Ludlow street recalls memories of one of the greatest naval battles of the War of 1812, the engagement between the Chesapeake and the British ship Shannon, in which Capt. James Lawrence and his ablest Lieutenant, August C. Ludlow, lost their lives.

William Arthurs, carpenter, 315 Merrill St., Clearfield, says: "Every now and then I have been troubled by pains across the small of my back and over my kidneys. I have had the trouble especially in the winter, when the weather is severe and I think it has been due to colds settling in my back and kidneys. Pains have caught me when I have stooped over and frequently have extended up into my shoulders and down through my hips. When one of these attacks has come on, I have bought Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store. They have eased the pains through my back."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Arthurs had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SOFT COAL PRICES SET BY PRESIDENT

Tentative Scale at Mines Makes Big Cut in Charges to Government and Public

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21—President Wilson, through an order promulgated tonight, fixed a tentative scale of prices for bituminous coal at the mines in the several coal-producing districts of the country which will greatly reduce the price of this commodity, not only to the government, but the public as well,

Acting under authority conferred upon him by the Food Control act, the President upset the prices agreed upon last June by the operators, in conference with Secretary of the Interior Lane, the Federal Trade Commission and the Coal Production committee, headed by Francis S. Peabody. In a number of instances the chief executive reduced by more than $1 a ton the voluntary prices fixed at that gathering.

While the prices fixed by executive order tonight are only temporary, they are expected to be followed up by the appointment of a fuel dictator, who shall be in charge of the coal situation for the government.

Provisional Scale, Says Wilson

In a statement made public at the White House tonight the President says:

"The following scale of prices is prescribed for bituminous coal at the mine in the several coal-producing districts. It is provisional only. It is subject to reconsideration when the whole method of administering the fuel supplies of the country shall have been satisfactorily organized and put into operation. Subsequent measures will have as their object a fair and equitable control of the distribution of the supply and of the prices, not only at the mines but also in the hands of the middlemen and the retailers.

"The prices provisionally fixed here are fixed by my authority under the provisions of the recent act of Congress regarding administration of the food supply of the country, which also conferred upon the executive control of the fuel suppiy. They are based upon the actual cost of production and are deemed to be not only fair and just, but liberal as well. Under them the industries should nowher lack stimulation."

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF WAR SECRETARY BAKER'S PLAN

Activities of United States Forces to be Imparted to Public when Permissible

Washington, D. C. Aug. 21—The first official summary of the war activities of the United States will be issued in a few days by Secretary Baker, to be followed weekly thereafter with statements of such matters as may be disclosed without violating military precautions.

The exact nature of the statements has not been made known. In announcing his intention to begin the practice, however, Secretary Baker said he would go just as far as the military advisers of the government deemed it wise toward informing the public of what was in progress. Information of every sort reaching the department will be scrutinized for publishable matter and the impression was given that the statements would not be confined exclusively to past action but would probably contain forecasts, wherever permissible.

When American troops get into action in France, daily statements probably will be issued, founded upon the reports from General Pershing. This has been followed by the British custom, and will be followed by the United States.

Regarding many constantly circulating rumors of disasters to American troops or shipping, Mr. Baker reiterated emphatically the pledge of the administration to withhold no news of misadventure of the forces from the public. Every untoward happening will be announced promptly, he said, and the public may rest assured that no news means good news to that extent. Such rumors as have been current recently, he said, were without any foundation whatever.

The extent to which naval happenings can be made public is a different matter. Secretary Daniels has promised that news of disasters will be given out with as little delay as possible but it is not to be expected that the extent of damage to naval craft temporary disablement of destroyers or other vessels either as a result of action or through accident, will be disclosed. The practice of all countries has been to keep the enemy as much in the dark as possible on such matters.

School for Soldiers

ordinary times he must take care of it.

In caring for a rifle it is especially important to keep the bore clean. In so doing be sure to avoid injuring the delicate rifling which causes the bullet to spin as it is forced out and thus greatly increases the accuracy of firing. Never put away a rifle that has been fired or exposed to bad weather without first cleaning it. Never lay a rifle flat on the ground. Rest it securely against something. In lowering the rifle to the ground, whether during drilling or at any other time, see that it touches the ground gently.

Don't play with your rifle. A rifle or revolver, whether loaded or unloaded, should never be pointed at a person unless you fully intend to shoot that person, if necessary, in the performance of your duty. When a firearm is put into your hands you are intrusted with a great responsibility for its proper use.

Anybody in normal physical condition can learn to be a good shot. Two of the most important points to remember are to take a deep breath just before completing your aim so that you may hold the rifle with perfect steadiness, and to squeeze the trigger so that the gun will not be jerked from ist aim at the moment of firing. When you become an expert marksman (provided you have also the courage which permits you to remain cool and collected on the battle field) you will have added immensely to your value as a citizen soldier. The simple fact that you qualify as a marksman will give you more self-confidence and self-control

The amount of ammunition which an American infantryman carries in an advanced firing position, where it is difficult to bring up reserves of ammunition, it is necessary to be economical. Bear this in mind during your target practice and learn to make every shot count.

In modern warfare the intrenching tool is an essential part of your fighting equipment. The eight men in each squad carry these 8 tools: 4 shovels, 2 pick mattocks, 1 polo or hand-ax, and 1 wirecutter. In ordinary soil you can quickly throw up a shallow trench which will protect you to a great extent from the enemy's fire. After a trench has once been started, it can be deepened and extended, even in the face of the enemy, without the soldier exposing himself to direct fire.

Don't look on practice in digging trenches as if it were drudgery. Skill in seeking and making cover from the method of self-protection so long as of weakness on the soldier's part. Rather it is a sign of the determination and courage that marks a really efficient fighting force. The day has gone by when either officers or men are expected to stand out in the open. They should use every effective method of self-protection so long as it helps to gain ground and defeat the enemy.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

To feel as fine as thve proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, its your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy compexion, watery eyes, all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed up body waste, bile and tovins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Everyman and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

FIRST FOOD TRAINING CAMP

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—The first food training camp to be conducted by the Food Training Department of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions was established here today as a feature of the annual Iowa State Fair. Daily sessions are planned at which practical demonstrations will be given in food economy, production and conservation. In this way it is hoped to carry the Government's conservation message directly to the thousands of persons who annually attend the State Fair.

JOHN B. GOUGH CENTENARY

New York, Aug. 22.—In these days, when the warfare against intoxicating liquor is being vigorously pushed in many lands, it is not without interest to recall that today is the centennial anniversary of the birth of John B. Gough, one of the greatest temperance orators the world ever has known.

In many parts of the United States, in Canada and in the British Isles, there are still living many men who listened spellbound to Gough's eloquent tirades against "the demon Rum," and many of whom doubtless signed the temperance pledge while under the influence of the orator's eloquence.

England was the birthplace of John B. Gough, but it was in the United States that he lived the greated part of his life. His father died when the lad was 10 years old, and his mother, from whom he acquired his education, sent the boy to the United States in 1829, where he worked on a farm in Oneida county, N. Y., for two years and then came to the metropolis to learn the trade of bookbinder.

His mother and sister immigrated to New York in 1832. Only a few months later young Gough lost his position because of his habits and the family were reduced to destitution. His mother died and he became a wandering minstrel and actor and a constant patron of the saloon. He was married in 1839 and established a shop for bookbinding, but his habits used up his earnings and his wife and child died from neglect.

His twenty-fifth birthday found him in Worcester, Mass., a victim of delirium tremens. A traveling Quaker temperance lecturer induced him to sign the pledge. He kept it for a time, but old companions induced him to drink and this violation he regretted and confessed at a public meeting in Worcester.

He was married again in 1843 and then devoted himself to lecturing, speaking whenever he could get an audience. He spoke every day, and often twice in one day. His tours carried him to every part of the United States and over England, Scotland and Ireland. From 1861 to the time of his death he delivered 3526 lectures, or in all during his career, 9600 to 9,000,000 hearers. In his library he had four large volumes containg over 140,000 autographs of men, women and children whom he had personally induced to sign the pledge. He died during a lecture tour at Frankford, Pa., in 1886.

"ON DANGEROUS GROUND"

A thrilling and unusual story, based on a phase of the European war, is "On Dangerous grounnd" which is coming to the Globe theatre today.

In order to escape the German spies it is necessary in "On Dangerous Ground" for the heroine to pass herself off as the wife of the hero Up to the time that she does this the heroine has never seen the hero It is easy to imagine some of the complications which arise from this unusual situation It is because "On Dangerous Ground" is so utterly different from the ordinary run of pictures that it is so exceptionally entertaining and interesting

Dictator of Russia In Action On The Front

Alexander F. Kerensky, just the o ther day made premier of Russia in the place of Prince Lvoff, has now be come dictator. At least his cabinet, of which he is believed to be in absolute control, has been given "unlimited powers" by the Council of Soldiers and Workmen's delegates and peasants. This photograph of the new ruler was taken when he recently visited the front to encourage the troops there who had quit fighting the Germans. He was caught in the action of cheering on the men who marched past him.

Wedding at Saint Francis's This A. M.

Edna Daugherty and J. S. Swayne Of West Chester, United For Life

Jesse Swayne, of West Chester, Pa., and Miss Edna Dougherty, of Clearfield, were the principals in a quiet wedding which was celebrated in St. Francis Catholic church at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The ceremony was performed by the pastor Rev. Father M. A. Ryan in the presence of the immediate families of the contracting parties The attendants were Joseph and Gertrude Dougherty, brother and sister of the bride.

The groom is a prominent young business man of West Chester while his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dougherty, of Park avenue, and a handsome and accomplished young woman. She had been employed as a milliner at West Chester for the past couple of years.

Following the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride, where an elegant wedding breakfast was served, an dthe happy couple left on the 8:20 Pennsylvania train for a tour of the eastern cities, after which they will be at home at West Chester.

The Progress joins the young couple's host of friends in heartiest congratulations.

Too Much for Inquisitive Rattler Who Falls Victim To Host

Comrade James Brewer, Keeper of the Punxsutawney camp, which is located on the mountains about thirteen miles north of Clearfield, was in town today, having made the trip in from the wilds for a load of camp supplies.

Comrade Brewer has been on the mountains continuously for the past twenty-five years and in conversation with The Progress man said in all that time he never saw the deer so plenty and the rattle snakes so scarce as this year. Deer are multiplying very fast and droves of six to ten are not uncommon sights any day on the headwaters of Trout Run and throughout that entire region.

He says he saw but one rattler this year and that one was more than four feet long. He discovered it Monday morning while eating breakfast at the camp. The rattler crawled onto the front porch and was only kept from coming right in for a friendly visit by the screen door which Jim has provided for just such occasions and to keep the flies out. It was the first screen door the rattler had met up with and he was giving it a careful "once ovre" when Mr. Brewer slipped out the back door and hurrying around to the front slaughtered his unwelcome visitor with a club.

Battles Still Raging Along All Fronts in World War

Germans and Austrians Being Terribly Slaughtered by the Armies of England, France and Italy

ANOTHER GERMAN RAID OVER LONDON

By J. H. Hurley
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the Italian Armies in the Field Aug. 22—Austrian casualtes are continuing as the Italians advance The dead and wounded have reached a total of 35,000. The Italians have swept from the enemy the villges of Thesola, Britof, Canale, Bormez and Arosa. All were found smoking ruins and shell shattered from the artillery fire. Crossng the Osonzo was simple for the Italians owing to a heavy fog. The Austrians' search light could not penetrate the curtain smoke. Italian engineers build bridges in many places and over these the attacking forces flew. Another regiment anxious to get into battle swam the river. The patrol on guard was attacked by bayonets and grenades.

With the Brtish Armies n the Field, Aug. 22—The British forces at 4:45 this morning resumed their drive against Langemarch and Freyenberg Violent fighting is being waged. No details have been reecived at headquarters.

LONDON AGAIN BOMBED FROM AIR

London, Aug. 22—Ten enemy aeroplanes raided London today dropping bombs over Dover and Margate. Lord French, commander in chief of the Home Defense forces announced that two of the German planes had been brought down. For the first time in months the Germans used aeroplanes in the raid over Yorkshire. A statement issued by Lord French today said the dirigibles flew over Yorkshire and at the mouth of the Humber river. They dropped bombs. "There were no casualties except one man was injured."

Margate and Dover are in Kent at the mouth of the Thames. Presumably the Germans intended to follow the Thames up to London. The Rumber river is about 165 miles north of the Thames. Hull one of the great ship building centers in England is situated on the Humber.

AMERICAN AVIATORS ARE KILLED

(By United Press)

Paris, Aug. 22—The death of O. H. Chadwck of Lowell, Mass., and Aviator Biddle also an American, in a recent fight on the west front, were in the list of casualties published today. Corporal Harold Willis, of Boston, a member of the Lafayette Flying Squadron was announced as being a prisoner of war in Germany.

Recent lists of the Americans with the French aviation servicne from the Paris office of the United Press showed a Julian Biddle, of Philadelphia, and Andalusia, Pa., as being in training at the camp at Avord. The cable above does not give Biddle's first name. Corporal Willis has done meritorious work with the Lafayette Flying Squadron. He is 27 years old and for 14 months was in the American ambulance service. Chadwick is a graduate of Harvard and was prominent n athletics.

Young Woman Giving Her Name as Rebecca Black, of Mill Creek, Pa., Will be Brought Here This Evening

A woman giving her name as, Rebeca Black, of Mill Creek, Huntingdon county, Pa., was arrested at Osceola today by the police authorities of that town under the direction of Squire F. M. McCully on the charge of selling court plaster containing disease germs such as is alleged to have been sold several different places throughout the country by German spies or sympathizers.

The woman in custody had worked Philipsburg before going to Osceola. She made the trip between the two towns in the Emerick jitney bus and had been working in Osceola about an hour before word was received from Philipsburg to look out for her.

Upon receipt of the advice from Philipsburg a search of the town was hurriedly made and the woman soon located and placed under arrest. She had made a number of sales but a prompt warning against the use of the plaster was given the townspeople and no danger is loked for even tho the suspicion as to the dangerous character of the stuff is found to be warranted after analysis.

District Attorney Welch was notified and directed that the suspect and her stock of court plaster be sent to Clearfield and she will be brought in on the 5:55 Pennsylvania train this evening.

LABOR TROUBLE LEADS TO COURT SETTLEMENT

Westover Tannery Workers and Hired Deputy Sheriffs Come Together

WAGE TROUBLE THE CAUSE

The little town of Westover in the upper end of Clearfield county is suffering the effects of a labor war, which has been raging for possibly six months, with the end even now far from sight.

Westover is a peaceful little country village, or, rather, was a peaceful little country town built around the Mosser tannery, which was owned and operated for many years by the late W. F. Mosser, who was the leading spirit in the town, honored and respected by all who knew him. He was the originator of the Mosser deer park and otherwise put his town on the map.

So long as Mr. Mosser was at the helm everything was calm and peaceful and the little town was as one big family. Everybody worked at the tannery, they were all natives of the community, many of whem were descendants of the pioneers who settled that region, who owned their own homes and were of the bone and sinew of the nation.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Mosser the management of the tannery, which we are informed is owned and controlled by the Morse Packing company of Chicago, fell into other hands and before long the actions and exactions of those in charge began to create more or less friction with the men employed.

When the price of living began to soar wages at the tannery failed utterly to keep pace with the raise and with flour and $4.00 per sack and beefsteak 30 cents per pound the men declared that $1.75 per day for outside hands and $1.86 to $1.96 for inside tannery workers was not enough to make ends come anyway near meeting and a demand for an increase of fifteen per cent. in wages was the result. This was refused and the trouble started.

A strike was ordered and soon the quiet little village was thrown into a turmoil by the importation of a train load of strike breakers, of the usual calibre of such men and the trouble began.

This character of man was new to the village and naturally failed to mix well with the townspeople. No person would furnish entertainment for them and the company arranged to quarter them in a stockade on the tannery property. Several minor clashes occurred and the management appealed to the county authorities for protection, alleging that they feared damage to their property. Accordingly some eighteen of the strike-breakers were sworn in as deputy sheriffs for patrol of the tannery property only.

On July 23, 1917, a real mix up occurred between the strike breakers and the townspeople. The later allege the imported men invited trouble and got it. In any event a clash occurred and Dennis Fry, Dan Lallamont Jake Rowland, Jean Kitchen, Glen Rodkey, M. C. Westover and H. L. Park were arrested on information made by one L. M. Bishop, in charge of the deputies.

Bishop atempted to arrest the men following the trouble in the town and called upon M. C. Westover, former constable of Chest township a leading business man of the town to assist him. Mr. Westover refused to assist because as he alleges Bishop was not a regular officer and had no jurisdiction off the tannery property. did not see the men making any disturbance and had no warrant.

Following his refusal Mr. Westover was also arrested and the cases were returned to court and will be disposed of at September sessions.

The Westover situation is a most unfortunate and it is too bad some satisfactory adjustment cannot be made. We do not know the real facts in the matter or who is to blame but we are very well aware that no man can live on $1.75 per day nowadays, and further believe that this is one time capital and labor should get together on a live and let live basis. There should be no necessity for armed guards at industrial plants in this country. Armed men are needed in Europe.

School for Soldiers Lesson No. 8

This course of thirty daily lessons is offered to the men selected for service in the National Army as a practical help in getting started in the right way. It is informal in tone and does not attempt to give binding rules and direction. These are contained in the various manuals and regulations of the United States army to which this course is merely introductory.

LESSON NO. 9

YOUR EQUIPMENT AND ARMS

Each soldier in a modern army carries with him sufficient food, clothing, shelter, fighting arms, and ammunition to take care of himself for a short period in case he should be separated from his company. The total weight of his load, in addition to the clothes he wears, is 50 to 70 pounds. The number of articles is surprisingly large. They are so devised, however, that by ingenious methods of packing and adjusting they can all be carried with the least possible effort.

You are personally responsible for all the arms, clothing and supplies issued to you. The trained soldier keeps track of them. He knows immediately at any time where every one of his belongings is to be found You are required to keep them in good condition. In case you need other articles, they may be issued to you; but their value in that case will be deducted from your next pay.

You wil lreceive on enlistment an ample supply of clothing, including not only your uniform, but extra shoes, shirts, underclothes and socks. You may not be able always to keep your clothing spotlessly clean. But when it becomes dirty or spotted take the first opportunity to clean it thoroughly.

Your shoes must be cleaned and polished frequently. Wet shoes should be carefully dried. Army men frequently dry their shoes during the night by taking a few handfuls of dry, clean pebbles, heating them in a meat can or kettle until they are very hot, and then placing them in the shoes. So long as the pebbles are hot move them about once in a while by shaking the shoes. Take care not to heat the pebbles so hot that the shoes will be scorched.

In general, see to it that all your clothing is as neat and clean as possible at all times. Mend rips and sew on buttons without delay. This will add to your comfort as well as appearance.

Wear your hat straight. Don't affect the "smart aleck" style of tilting the hat. Keep all buttons fastened. Have your trousers and leggings properly laced. Keep yourself clean shaved. Carry yourself like a soldier.

Bear in mind that there is a tendency in camp life for men to become careless and untidy. You must use every means to counteract this tendeney. For this purpose the customs and regulations of the army emphasize the necessity for personal neatness and cleanliness. The good soldier keeps close watch on himself.

Besides his extra clothing a soldier carries a blanket, a rubber poncho, a cantee, a mess kit, including meat can, knife, fork, and spoon, a cup, toilet articles, a first aid package, and some minor belongings.

One of the most useful pieces is one-half of a shelter tent, with rope and pins. The shelter tent is said to be a French invention which was introduced into the American army during the Civil war. In the army it is often called a "dog tent" evidently because of its shape and small size. Two men can combine their halves and set up a shelter tent in a few minutes. While it can not be described as roomy, it is just what its name implies a "shelter" from wind and rain. It is used only in temporary camps.

Your chief fighting tools will be a rifle, a bayonet in a scabbard, a cartridge belt, and an intrenching tool. Other weapons or defenses needed in modern trench warfare will be referred to later. Do not under any circumstances lose track of these articles while on field duty. So long as you possess them, you are an armed soldier capable of defending yourself and of performing effective service. Without them you are for all practical purposes helpless. Of course, this statement deos not apply strictly to those men who are armed in some other way, such as those who are serving artillery or machine guns.

The rifle is the soldier's closest friend. His first thought should be to guard it and care for it above all other possessions. He experts it to take care of him in emergencies. In

CONSCRIPTION IS BEING FOUGHT IN CANADA

Dominion Now Facing Greatest Crisis In Her History Over Selective Draft Law

MUST HAVE MANY MORE MEN

(By United Press)

Ottawa, Canada, Auguts 22.—Canada is facing its first crisis since the opening of the European war.

A general election is to be called by Premier Berden within the next few weeks for early in the fall. The life of the present Conservative government expires on October 7th. This will be the first oportunity the people of Canada have had to pass upon the war policies of the Berden government since the Dominions plunged into the great conflict.

The government has been split wide open on the issue of conscription. British Canada, generally speaking, supports conscription. French Canada is almost solidly oposed. The bitterest and most exciting political campaign in Dominion history is in prospect. Upon the result depends the contiuance in power of the present Conservative government and the enforcement of the compulsory military service act.

Leading the Liberal opposition is Sir Wilfrid Laurier, ex-premier and the idol of the French-Canadians of the province of Quebec. A brilliant speaker and a masterly politician Laurier is bending every effort to bring to his standard all the elements in Canada disaffected with the Borden regime.

Already however he has had to face the refusal of twenty-two non-French-Canadian Liberals in the House from Ontario and the western provinces to follow him in his anti-conscription battle. What strength those conscriptionist Liberal party 'belters' can take with them to the polls has become one of the big question marks of the campaign. In its answer may lie the final decision. On the part of the Conservatives they have had to face minor but very significant desertions from French-Canadian Conservatives.

Canada has 406,000 enlisted men. Her over seas force is made up of five divisions. Four of these are in France and one is held in England as a reserve division. Since the desperate, bloody day at Vimy Ridge, heavy drafts have been made on this reserve. Canada must provide more men or soon Dominion troops will be left without reserves. This would mean the elimination of Canada as a fighting factor at the front. Canada must raise 100,000 more men and do it quick.

Voluntary recruiting is a thing of the past. Canada has no great wealth of man power. Eight million people is her top. Already the 400,000 men who so freely gave themselves to service have seriously tightened the labor market in places. Farmers are in straits for help. In many cities clerks and municipal employees are given half holidays from their regular employment in order that they may go into the fields. This shortage is emphasized by the anti-conscriptionists. Conservatives declare there are hundreds of "slackers" in the cities who could be spared and assert that these are the men they want to get too under the law.

Intricate as is this problem alone, it is intermixed with the racial question, an alien enemy tangle, a tremendously difficult financial situation, involving the nationalization of 7,000 miles of railroad and millions of dollars in advances to others, and a line of hoary but still virulent political animosities, which stirred togethed offer the Canadian voter a political salad unlike anything previous in his entire political experience.

The next few weeks wil see stirring times across the border.

U. S. Against Peace At Present Time Says Redfield

REGARDED AS MORE OR LESS OFFICIAL

(By United Press)

Washington Aug. 22—The first formal utterance of any member of the President's cabinet or other high official of the government since the Pope's peace proposal was received, came today in a scathing denunciation of any peace move in this country. Secretary of Commerce Redfield was the spokesman. He declared there were two great opposing ideals in war—the ideals of autocracy and democracy. Germany was styled the desperado among ntions, and it is her military autocracy against which America is fighting.

The denunciation was in the form of a reply to a letter from J. E. Vandyke, of New Jersey, a member of a pacifist organization. Vandyke wrote to Redfield asking him to support the La-follette peace resolution in the Senate. In his reply Refield declared "that your communication is extraordinary by reason of what it omits. There is no word in your communication that speaks the American spirit. You seem interested to assert the evils of the nations joined with us in this war. In quiet earnestness you slur the spirit and act of those against Germany, which brought this war into being. Subtilely and by indirectness you take such a step that would stab your country in the back and tie the hands of the President. You choose shadows and ignore realities. Autocracy has been felt in Belgium, Serbia, Montenegro, Poland, Roumania and a fair part of France. It is a skilled and trained autocracy. It is a fight of the people of right against the people of might. Your country stands today as a free people who made war in order to make it safe for the free people of the earth. You have no bitter word for the nation that distressed Belgium and the daughters of France. You have no sympathy for the women and children murdered in defenseless towns whose men are fighting autocracy. Against it and everything like it America wil stand embattled and fight to the end."

Pennsy Must Pay Verdict of 10,916.67

Judge Johnson Directs That Judgment Be Entered In Case of Bovier vs. P. R. R. Co.

Judge Johnson, of Union county, in an opinion filed in the Prothonotary's office this afternoon refused a motion for judgement non obstante in the case of Bert Bovier vs. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and directs that judgment be entered in behalf of Bovier and against the railroad company for $10,916.67. This is the amount of the verdict which Bovier was awarded by a jury in the Clearfield county courts when the case was tried at February term of court.

On December 22, 1915, Bovier was terribly injured when his buggy was struck by a Pennsylvania train at a grade crossing at McGee's Mills. His case was handled by Liveright & Krebs and James A. Gleason, while Murray & O' Laughlin represented the railroad company. It was the largest personal injury verdict ever recovere din a Clearfield county court.

Judge Johnson also filed an opinion granting a new trial in the case of J. D. Anderson vs. The DuBois Street Railway Co. This case was also tried before Judge Johnson at special court in February and resulted in a verdict of $2000 in favor of Anderson for injuries received when a trolley car on which he was riding collided wit other car. In his opinion Judge Johnson recites that inasmuch as throu an ovresight it was not shown th the man's injuries were the result o the accident and at the argument appearing that both sides wanted a new trial, the same was granted.

Even Though Merchandise Soars Clearfield Will Have Dollar Da

Everybody Falling in Line and The Occasion Will be Made Bargain Feature

Dollad Day, 1917, is the next thing on the program. This Duy Of Days is one of the festivities that Clearfield housewives have come to look for as much as the youngsters look forward with delight to the Fourth and Christmas.

Conditions in the mercantile markets are abnormal with factory costs soaring and apparently no limit. But the Clearfield merchants as a whole recognize the fact that it is just such days as Dollar Day that makes for a closer bond of friendship between buyer and seller and are willing to sacrifice profits to further cement this bond.

The following merchants have already signified their intention of participating in the event:

A. W. Leonardsen & Co.
Ross & Woods.
W. F. Powell.
L. S. Hahn.
L. W. Pollack.
A. J. Hagerty.
Electric Supply Co.
Lytle Bros.
Brown's Boot Shop.
Stewart Drug Co.

JUDGEMENNT GONE AWRY

The fundamental interests of Clearfield county are being jeopardized by an ill advised Chief Executive of the United States. No one can deny the fact that the coal industry is one of the pillars of the business life of the county. In wages, in royalties and in cash returns the coal industry exceeds all others. Clearfield county needs to look after the interests of the coal men whose interests are in turn the interests of the county.

The news that the President has set a maximum price of $2 per ton for bituminous coal comes as a shocking surprise to all those who have heretofore had a fair opinion of the President's fairness and judgment in matters affecting the welfare of industry in general. In the past people have been slow to criticize the President for mistakes he has made for two reasons. First from a belief that it is unpatriotic to differ with him who is the nominal head of our government and second because his shortcomings have been directly chargable to the incapable advisors with whom he has surrounded himself. In this instance, however, it would seem that his confidence in his advisors has been misplaced, his reliance on his cabinet members a matter of total blindness to the interests of industry which is the life of the nation and he is being made the tool of a small coterie of advisors of socialist tendencies who hope to accomplish government ownership of mines by means of forced ruination of the operators.

To many people the price of $2 may appear to be fair and just but the fact remains that there are hundreds of mines where this sum will not more than cover the actual labor cost of putting the coal on the cars without any allowance for material, royalty and depreciation of equipment. Those who cannot produce coal at less than $2 per ton will be forced to quit producing. Thus it will accomplish a result directly the opposite of the wishes of the President and the needs of the nation. The few who can produce coal at this figure will be able to do so only by reason of their natural advantages and by reason of ideal mining conditions. Manufacturers using coal are today begging the operators to sell them coal at prices far above the mutually agreed price of $3 which has been in force for some time. The coal produced is not adequate to meet the demand. The consumers of coal are not objecting to the $3 price. Daily they offer more.

Were it not for the well known Socialistic leaning and governmental ownership theories of certain of the President's right hand men it would indeed be hard to find a reason for a further reduction in the maximum price to be charged for coal. Steel is today selling for three and four times its former price. Why is there no effort to reduce the price of steel? They fixed the price on wheat so that the consumer, you and I and every wage earner in the nation, will have to pay $3 per sack for flour, but in fixing the price on this commodity they applied the rule in precisely the opposite manner. In the case of wheat they fixed the price "up" while in the case of coal they fixed the price "down." After they fixed the price "up" on wheat they put Hoover on the job to mix barley, corn and oats with the wheat in order that we might get at least the same size loaf. If the proposed coal dictator will dope out a mixed ration of coal, mixing in some boney, slate and sulphur, probably the operators of Clearfield county can keep on top.

SOLDIER'S LETTERS

Schenley Park, Pittsburgh, Pa.
August 20, 1917

Dear Comrade Connelly:

Very glad, tho tardy to write you a few lines to inform you that the "gang is all here" and I need not assure you that it feels good to have a reunion of hte regimental family once more. Our regiment is camped inside the half mile track at the Schenley Oval, and it is an ideal camp location within easy access to the city, also homes of many of the men.

Company L arrived at Pittsburgh at 1:30 a. m., and maybe the lunch enroute, also a breakfast with some Java-Mocha on the side for a wash, was not appetizing. Why, Connelly, it was just like that hospital counter at Comrade Jordan's indeed. The various recruits that have been received at the armory from time to time were marched to the camp last Monday and given over to the various companies. It sure was impressive to see over 600 of them, almost a small regiment, march from the armory.

We are all glad for the short stay among our families and friends before leaving for Georgia. Do wish the good folks at Clearfield could have given us the "once over" as Red Delaney expresses it, in our parade on Saturday last for the boys did fine and the marching was very good, in fact you would have thought the boys had just returned from Texas, where we have hiked 22 miles a day.

By the way, break this news to Bill Leavy very gently. His pedigreed brindle Bull dog, expressed to Captain Scovel was licked by Co. I dog "Buster" to a frazzle. Buster is not much on looks or a pedigree, but oh man, he can fight. Funny, the day Scovel received the Leavy dog, he walked up the officers street with his dog on a leash, and addressing our cook, advised him to get a cage for "Buster," and the cook assured him he did not need a cage, and immediately cut his rope, and the tragedy ensued.

Sorry to cripple Comrade Jordan's force but Merrifield was anxious to enlist, and glad to say that he started in today as cook for the Supply Company, Capt. Costella.

Will close with best wishes for The Progress and our many friends in Clearfield.

AMERICAN AND FRENCH SAILORS FRATERNIZE

(By United Press)

An Atlantic Port, August 22.—American and French sailors do not wait until they arrive in France to fraternize. The French tars are here with French ships lieing in the harbor, while American sailors by the thousands are at a navyyard nearby.

Residents witnessed a novel sight recently. Four of Uncle Sam's sailors and four from France paraded the main thoroughfare on a sight-seeing tour. The men were paired and each man wound his arm about the other's waist.

Pals they were despite the fact that they could not understand each other's language. Aparently it made no difference. Hundreds turned to watch them and momentarily reflect, perhaps on the significance of the comradeship.

SALVATION ARMY TAG DAY

The local Salvation army will take over next Saturday as "tag day" in Clearfield and will "tag" our people in order to raise funds with which to complete their hospital ambulance equipment for use with the American army in France.

The Salvation Army is doing great work on the European battlefields and already has many ambulance units in service. They are preparing a special equipment for the American soldiers and the money raised Saturday will be turned in to this fund.

MANY CORN SUFFERERS MADE HAPPY

New Oil Treatment Brings Relief To Thousands.

It is said that New Oil Treatment is making many corn sufferrs happy. You don't even have to take off your shoe to get relief—just pour a few drops of the oil on the shoe over the corn and it does the rest, stealing and crawling down into the corn, and the pain disappears like magic. Then five applications of the Oil on the corn at bedtime it is said, will dissolve the callus, easily peeling off the corn, thus giving you permanent relief. Call at your druggist's for trial bottle of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (known as Snake Oil). Accept no substitute; there is nothing like it. See that the cut, "Made in the U. S. A." is on top of every package. Now on sale, 25c, 50c and $1.00, guaranteed or money refunded by Dooley's Drug Store.

BIRTHDAY OF "JARRAH JACK"

London, Aug. 22.—A man little known in this quarter of the globe three years ago, but who has been brought into the strong glare of the strong glare of the limelight by the present war, is Sir John Forres, Treasurer of the Australian Commonwealth, who was a recipent of many congratulations today on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary. Several months ago he came to England to attend the special war cabinet sittings and has since been the object of much public attention.

Sir John is perhaps the most famous and most popular man in Australian public life. Bushman, explorer, scientist and politician, he has had a career which for variety and interest would be hard to beat. He made his name as an explorer while still in his twenties, and was awarded the gold medal of the Royal eographical Society for his work in bridging the gulf which in 1870 separated Western Australia from the other colonies. He became famous, too, during the early rush to the Coolgardie goldfields, and was instrumental in supplying water to the prospectors, thereby saving thousands of lives. The Australians call him "Jarrah Jack," and in the western half of the Commonwealth his influence is so powerful that he is styled "the Emperor of the West."

HEROES' NAMES FOR STREETS

New York, Aug. 22.—The action taken by a number of cities both in Europe and America in renaming streets to commemorate some of the celebrated participants of events of the present war, has served to recall the fact that many streets of New York, chiefly on the lower East Side, bear names commemorative of the heroes of the War of 1812.

Some of the streets that honor the memory of active participants in that war are Perry, Pike, Christie, Forsyth, Eldridge, Allen and Ludlow. All of these streets received their present names just one hundred years ago this year.

Perry street, once the fashionable residential section of old Greenwich Village, was named after Commodore Perry. Christie street was named in honor of Col. John Chrystie, a New Yorker who commanded a detachment in the assault on Queenstown Heights Canada, Oct. 12, 1813.

Forsyth street commemorates Lieut. Col. Benjamin Forsyth, a North Carolina soldier who took part in the Canadian campiagn and later was killed in battle with the Indians. Eldridge street honors the memory of Lieut. Joseph C. Eldridge, who was distinguished for bravery at Stony Creek, wounded at Fort George, and finally killed by the Indians in Upper Canada.

Allen street is named for Willian Henry Allen, who was an officer under Decatur on the frigate United States. Ludlow street recalls memories of one of the greatest naval battles of the War of 1812, the engagement between the Chesapeake and the British ship Shannon, in which Capt. James Lawrence and his ablest Lieutenant, August C. Ludlow, lost their lives.

SOFT COAL PRICES SET BY PRESIDENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 21—President Wilson, through an order promulgated tonight, fixed a tentative scale of prices for bituminous coal at the mines in the several coal-producing districts of the country which will greatly reduce the price of this commodity, not only to the government, but the public as well,

Acting under authority conferred upon him by the Food Control act, the President upset the prices agreed upon last June by the operators, in conference with Secretary of the Interior Lane, the Federal Trade Commission and the Coal Production committee, headed by Francis S. Peabody. In a number of instances the chief executive reduced by more than $1 a ton the voluntary prices fixed at that gathering.

While the prices fixed by executive order tonight are only temporary, they are expected to be followed up by the appointment of a fuel dictator, who shall be in charge of the coal situation for the government.

Provisional Scale, Says Wilson

In a statement made public at the White House tonight the President says:

"The following scale of prices is prescribed for bituminous coal at the mine in the several coal-producing districts. It is provisional only. It is subject to reconsideration when the whole method of administering the fuel supplies of the country shall have been satisfactorily organized and put into operation. Subsequent measures will have as their object a fair and equitable control of the distribution of the supply and of the prices, not only at the mines but also in the hands of the middlemen and the retailers.

"The prices provisionally fixed here are fixed by my authority under the provisions of the recent act of Congress regarding administration of the food supply of the country, which also conferred upon the executive control of the fuel suppiy. They are based upon the actual cost of production and are deemed to be not only fair and just, but liberal as well. Under them the industries should nowher lack stimulation."

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF WAR SECRETARY BAKER'S PLAN

Activities of United States Forces to be Imparted to Public when Permissible

Washington, D. C. Aug. 21—The first official summary of the war activities of the United States will be issued in a few days by Secretary Baker, to be followed weekly thereafter with statements of such matters as may be disclosed without violating military precautions.

The exact nature of the statements has not been made known. In announcing his intention to begin the practice, however, Secretary Baker said he would go just as far as the military advisers of the government deemed it wise toward informing the public of what was in progress. Information of every sort reaching the department will be scrutinized for publishable matter and the impression was given that the statements would not be confined exclusively to past action but would probably contain forecasts, wherever permissible.

When American troops get into action in France, daily statements probably will be issued, founded upon the reports from General Pershing. This has been followed by the British custom, and will be followed by the United States.

Regarding many constantly circulating rumors of disasters to American troops or shipping, Mr. Baker reiterated emphatically the pledge of the administration to withhold no news of misadventure of the forces from the public. Every untoward happening will be announced promptly, he said, and the public may rest assured that no news means good news to that extent. Such rumors as have been current recently, he said, were without any foundation whatever.

The extent to which naval happenings can be made public is a different matter. Secretary Daniels has promised that news of disasters will be given out with as little delay as possible but it is not to be expected that the extent of damage to naval craft temporary disablement of destroyers or other vessels either as a result of action or through accident, will be disclosed. The practice of all countries has been to keep the enemy as much in the dark as possible on such matters.

School for Soldiers

ordinary times he must take care of it.

In caring for a rifle it is especially important to keep the bore clean. In so doing be sure to avoid injuring the delicate rifling which causes the bullet to spin as it is forced out and thus greatly increases the accuracy of firing. Never put away a rifle that has been fired or exposed to bad weather without first cleaning it. Never lay a rifle flat on the ground. Rest it securely against something. In lowering the rifle to the ground, whether during drilling or at any other time, see that it touches the ground gently.

Don't play with your rifle. A rifle or revolver, whether loaded or unloaded, should never be pointed at a person unless you fully intend to shoot that person, if necessary, in the performance of your duty. When a firearm is put into your hands you are intrusted with a great responsibility for its proper use.

Anybody in normal physical condition can learn to be a good shot. Two of the most important points to remember are to take a deep breath just before completing your aim so that you may hold the rifle with perfect steadiness, and to squeeze the trigger so that the gun will not be jerked from ist aim at the moment of firing. When you become an expert marksman (provided you have also the courage which permits you to remain cool and collected on the battle field) you will have added immensely to your value as a citizen soldier. The simple fact that you qualify as a marksman will give you more self-confidence and self-control

The amount of ammunition which an American infantryman carries in an advanced firing position, where it is difficult to bring up reserves of ammunition, it is necessary to be economical. Bear this in mind during your target practice and learn to make every shot count.

In modern warfare the intrenching tool is an essential part of your fighting equipment. The eight men in each squad carry these 8 tools: 4 shovels, 2 pick mattocks, 1 polo or hand-ax, and 1 wirecutter. In ordinary soil you can quickly throw up a shallow trench which will protect you to a great extent from the enemy's fire. After a trench has once been started, it can be deepened and extended, even in the face of the enemy, without the soldier exposing himself to direct fire.

Don't look on practice in digging trenches as if it were drudgery. Skill in seeking and making cover from the method of self-protection so long as of weakness on the soldier's part. Rather it is a sign of the determination and courage that marks a really efficient fighting force. The day has gone by when either officers or men are expected to stand out in the open. They should use every effective method of self-protection so long as it helps to gain ground and defeat the enemy.

WILLIAM F. POWELL

BOTH PHONES CLEARFIELD, PA.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it before breakfast.

To feel as fine as thve proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, its your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy compexion, watery eyes, all denote liver uncleanliness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed up body waste, bile and tovins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Everyman and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.

FIRST FOOD TRAINING CAMP

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 22.—The first food training camp to be conducted by the Food Training Department of the American Association of Fairs and Expositions was established here today as a feature of the annual Iowa State Fair. Daily sessions are planned at which practical demonstrations will be given in food economy, production and conservation. In this way it is hoped to carry the Government's conservation message directly to the thousands of persons who annually attend the State Fair.

JOHN B. GOUGH CENTENARY

New York, Aug. 22.—In these days, when the warfare against intoxicating liquor is being vigorously pushed in many lands, it is not without interest to recall that today is the centennial anniversary of the birth of John B. Gough, one of the greatest temperance orators the world ever has known.

In many parts of the United States, in Canada and in the British Isles, there are still living many men who listened spellbound to Gough's eloquent tirades against "the demon Rum," and many of whom doubtless signed the temperance pledge while under the influence of the orator's eloquence.

England was the birthplace of John B. Gough, but it was in the United States that he lived the greated part of his life. His father died when the lad was 10 years old, and his mother, from whom he acquired his education, sent the boy to the United States in 1829, where he worked on a farm in Oneida county, N. Y., for two years and then came to the metropolis to learn the trade of bookbinder.

His mother and sister immigrated to New York in 1832. Only a few months later young Gough lost his position because of his habits and the family were reduced to destitution. His mother died and he became a wandering minstrel and actor and a constant patron of the saloon. He was married in 1839 and established a shop for bookbinding, but his habits used up his earnings and his wife and child died from neglect.

His twenty-fifth birthday found him in Worcester, Mass., a victim of delirium tremens. A traveling Quaker temperance lecturer induced him to sign the pledge. He kept it for a time, but old companions induced him to drink and this violation he regretted and confessed at a public meeting in Worcester.

He was married again in 1843 and then devoted himself to lecturing, speaking whenever he could get an audience. He spoke every day, and often twice in one day. His tours carried him to every part of the United States and over England, Scotland and Ireland. From 1861 to the time of his death he delivered 3526 lectures, or in all during his career, 9600 to 9,000,000 hearers. In his library he had four large volumes containg over 140,000 autographs of men, women and children whom he had personally induced to sign the pledge. He died during a lecture tour at Frankford, Pa., in 1886.

NEWS OF THE MOVIES

"ON DANGEROUS GROUND"

A thrilling and unusual story, based on a phase of the European war, is "On Dangerous grounnd" which is coming to the Globe theatre today.

In order to escape the German spies it is necessary in "On Dangerous Ground" for the heroine to pass herself off as the wife of the hero Up to the time that she does this the heroine has never seen the hero It is easy to imagine some of the complications which arise from this unusual situation It is because "On Dangerous Ground" is so utterly different from the ordinary run of pictures that it is so exceptionally entertaining and interesting

Delicious Coffee in 15 Minutes

It's a Case of Making Cold Water into Aromatic Coffee in 15 Minutes at a Cost of Less than a Cent for Heat

That's much more desirable than having to mess with kindling, carrying out ashes, making a hot coal fire—then waiting an interminable time for the coffee to boil.

Then, too, if any company drops in and a cup of coffee would be nice to serve if—"the fire wasn't out".

Too Much for Inquisitive Rattler Who Falls Victim To Host

Comrade James Brewer, Keeper of the Punxsutawney camp, which is located on the mountains about thirteen miles north of Clearfield, was in town today, having made the trip in from the wilds for a load of camp supplies.

Comrade Brewer has been on the mountains continuously for the past twenty-five years and in conversation with The Progress man said in all that time he never saw the deer so plenty and the rattle snakes so scarce as this year. Deer are multiplying very fast and droves of six to ten are not uncommon sights any day on the headwaters of Trout Run and throughout that entire region.

He says he saw but one rattler this year and that one was more than four feet long. He discovered it Monday morning while eating breakfast at the camp. The rattler crawled onto the front porch and was only kept from coming right in for a friendly visit by the screen door which Jim has provided for just such occasions and to keep the flies out. It was the first screen door the rattler had met up with and he was giving it a careful "once ovre" when Mr. Brewer slipped out the back door and hurrying around to the front slaughtered his unwelcome visitor with a club.
